CIPI Cable Update

There are changes taking place on how we receive satellite signals from Shaw Broadcast. They are changing from MPEG-2 to MPEG-4 technology over a period of 3 years starting May 2017. This will affect all the receiving equipment we use for the analog channels we offer on CIPI Cable and some of the Set-top Boxes being used by our Digital Cable Subscribers. This includes the DCT 700, DCT 2500 and DCT 6200 Set-top Boxes.

Our plan is to prepare to change out all the DCT boxes that our subscribers have, upgrade the Digital head-end equipment and also change/upgrade the cable packages and pricing.

CIPI Cable has no plans to upgrade the analog system and each channel will eventually be removed from the line-up leaving only channel 5 by the Fall of 2019. We encourage all analog cable subscribers to make the switch to digital cable.

If you have any questions, comments or concerns regarding CIPI Cable, please call Fred Roy at 306-288-2222 or you can talk to any of the CIPI Board members.

BINGO UPDATE

Coming Soon! We will be adding an Early Bird series to our bingo line-up. 45 numbers will be pre-called and the accumulator Blackout game will be for a prize. Consolation is $200. Cards will be $5.00 each.

Beauval Co-Management Board Update

Beauval Co-Management Board is made up of stakeholders that are involved with activity within the N-12 Fur Block. The board is made up of representation from the municipal and Metis' local government along with Traditional Economies (trappers association, fishers, wild-rice growers etc.). Meetings are held on a regular basis, these meetings usually have topics of discussion that impact any or all of the stakeholders. Community social & economic development is an ongoing discussion item as it impacts the wellbeing of the members of the community. Government ministries and industry representatives are often invited to meet with the board to discuss any concerns associated with such things as forest, fisheries & fur harvesting among other things. An example of such discussions is forest harvesting within the immediate area of the municipal boundaries, this area is known as the Burnouf Road.

Co-management board allowed Mistik Management to harvest timber in the area with community safety as the main reason. Under the new provincial "Forest Fire Act" municipalities are required to be proactive with protecting their communities from forest fire threat this includes fire guard surrounding the community. In addition municipalities are responsible for the cost of forest fires within their boundaries. The area harvested performs as a Fire Guard in the event of a forest fire threatening the community, this cut area acts as a barrier to the fire. Working with Mayor & Council Co-management board has requested that logging roads that were opened up in the harvest area to remain open so that the public are able to access the area for activity. Mayor & Council is interested in hearing from the public as well as groups if they have an idea on what should go into the area. Some activities that were talked about were: firing range for bow & gun, quad trails, walking trails etc. Currently there is a lot of left over timber in the harvested area that could be collected for firewood if anyone is interested.

If you have any questions or concern contact:

U of S will Close Research Centre Due to Provincial Budget Cuts

SASKATOON – The University of Saskatchewan will close the International Centre for Northern Governance and Development (ICNGD) as of June 15, 2017. The annual targeted funding for this research centre was eliminated in this year’s provincial budget, as of April 30, 2017.

Over its 10-year history, the ICNGD has successfully provided two “northern-tailored” graduate-level degree programs; the Master of Northern Governance and Development (MNGD) being the first degree offered by the U of S in the North, for the North and with the North.

The Governance and Entrepreneurship in Northern and Indigenous Areas (GENI) was the first international joint degree between Canada and Norway, and the first one in Western Canada. Combined, these programs have graduated more than 50 students. Furthermore, the centre’s research has focused on concerns identified by northerners in critical areas such as northern governance, First Nations and resource development, northern innovation and climate and socio-economics. The centre attracted approximately $1.6 million in research funding.

While the centre will close on June 15, the university has appointed the Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy (JSGS) to administer the two masters programs. Students currently enrolled in both the MNGD and GENI will be able to complete their programs, and new applicants will be accepted into the GENI program only. Admissions for the MNGD program will be suspended for 2017-18 to enable a pause and re-evaluation of the program. Students have benefited from funding support through key partners, Cameco Corporation and MITACS. Ongoing discussions are occurring to maintain this important financial support for students.

“The U of S has deep roots in the North with critical relationships, programs and community outreach activities that are decades old and span Northern Saskatchewan, the Provincial Norths, and the Circumpolar North,” said U of S President Peter

Stoicheff. “While we are deeply disheartened by the recent loss of provincial government funding for the centre, we will not be deterred from our important work alongside the people of Saskatchewan’s northern communities.”

Regrettably, this budget cut will result in the loss of six staff positions as of the centre’s closure on June 15. These staff members have contributed greatly to the success of the students and faculty and to Saskatchewan’s northern communities and they will be supported through the transition and closure of the centre.

“The U of S has a strong commitment to collaborating with its northern partners and we remain resolved towards identifying a comprehensive strategy for the North,” said Patti McDougall, U of S vice-provost teaching and learning. “Going forward, we will work with an expanded version of ICNGD’s Northern Advisory Board to ensure the voices and advice of these leaders, as well as industry, are heard as we review all of our activities and programs in the North to ensure we are meeting their needs.”
